

SGP GENDER CAFE

How Can We Make Knowledge Management Systems and Practices More Inclusive?

Join the Learning and Knowledge Exchange unit for an interactive conversation to reflect on gender equality in knowledge management at UNICEF and beyond. You will learn about tools and strategies you can use in your work to make knowledge sharing more inclusive. Research shows that diversity is one of the most powerful motivators for a group of people to search for information, and leads to better decision making and problem solving. We will hear from panelists about using inclusive knowledge management systems and how to foster a culture of practice-based learning.

This a joint effort organized by UNICEF and The Society of Gender Professionals to open the conversation on how we apply a gender lens to improve knowledge sharing practices.

with:

Ian Thorpe, Chief, Learning and Knowledge Exchange, DRP UNICEF

Dr. Lata Narayanaswamy, Lecturer in International Development

Sophie Namy, Raising Voices/Independent Consultant

Rituu B Nanda, Constellation/Institute of Social Studies Trust (ISST)

NOV 14, 2018

9AM EST/5 PM EAT

ONLINE

REGISTER
HERE